Educational Seminar:

Four Legs to Stand On: Equine Limb Anatomy

With Carol Buckhout, B.S., M.P.S., P.A.S.

Assistant Professor Cazenovia College Equine Business Management

Sunday, February 25, 2018

Snow date: Sunday, March 4, 2018

1:00 PM- 4:00 PM

Cazenovia College Equine Education Center, 4460 Woodfield Road, Cazenovia, NY

This workshop will provide an interactive opportunity to learn about and to observe the anatomy of the equine forelimb and hindlimb. This will be done through the use of diagrams, bone and soft tissue specimens and the live horse. Light snacks are included.

Be sure to dress in layers and wear barn footwear- we will be in a classroom and in the barn!

CVCA and CNYD&CTA Members: $10; Non-Members: $20
College Students: Free!

Ms. Buckhout has been a faculty member in the Cazenovia College Equine Business Management Program in both part-time and full-time capacities since 1995. She teaches courses in equine nutrition, equine anatomy and physiology, and equine reproduction. She is the faculty coordinator for equine internships and teaches the Pleasure Driving course. Ms. Buckhout is a co-advisor of the Equine Ambassadors Club. She is a member of several professional equine organizations and enjoys various disciplines of riding, including dressage and pleasure driving. Ms. Buckhout is the President of the Lorenzo Driving Competition Board of Directors and is also on the
